A bumpy ride for skateboarding bill

► Philly councilman again tries to steer vandalism legislation with nod toward skateboarders ► He says that small but noticeable constituency has weighed in

Councilman David Oh has gotten a lot of flack for a bill he introduced in May that would toughen penalties for those who vandalize public memorials on a skateboard, bicycle or roller blades.

But he's resurrected an amended version of the legislation, which he calls a compromise worked out between the Nutter administration and skateboarders since its original incarnation was tabled in October following an outcry from Blackwell and others who felt it was needlessly harsh.

"We had about maybe 10 representatives from all different segments of the skateboarding community, including Franklin's Paine and some of the others, and I basically kind of went through what I thought and what they thought," Oh said.

Under the amended bill, skateboarding would be prohibited on public memorials that are clearly marked with a sign. The penalties would be lowered from the original proposed maximum of a $2,000 fine and 90 days in jail.

The amendments passed and the bill will come up for a final vote next week.

Taking it to the streets

In alternative transportation news, City Council passed Thursday the Complete Streets act introduced by Councilman Mark Squilla. The legislation will:

► Create one set of rules to best accommodate a mix of pedestrians, bicyclists and motorists that will be compiled into a centralized "Complete Streets" handbook.

► Ride rails, not statues.

Enough horsing around in city

Councilman Bill Greenlee yesterday introduced a bill that would regulate city horse-owners. "First, it gives a very minimum area that the horse has to be housed on — a quarter acre — which isn't that large. But believe it or not, some people keep horses in their backyard," Greenlee said. "And it sets certain regulations on the cleanup of the horses, the maintenance, the feeding of the horses."

Quoted

"I think, for me certainly, seeing the kind of investment primarily being made by state-controlled entities or the Chinese national government ... is a reminder of what our federal government could and should be doing to invest in cities."

NUTTER

In the news

China trip gives Nutter broader view

Fresh off a five-day business trip to China, Mayor Michael Nutter called the trip a success that should raise the city's international profile and ultimately lead to more jobs.

Nutter, joined by representatives from various entities based in the city, met with government leaders in the capital city of Beijing and Tianjin, a sister city with a population of 13 million. He said he was impressed with the government's investment in infrastructure and economic development, including a new port built off the coast of Tianjin in the middle of the ocean.

The Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, which is partially funded by the city, paid for the trip — which was roughly $9,000. METRO/SDL

Another Bush at the Constitution Center

The National Constitution Center announced yesterday that former Florida Gov. Jeb Bush has been elected chairman of the board of trustees. The former two-term governor is the only Republican in Florida history to be reelected as governor. "The National Constitution Center's mission to improve civic education and engagement and inspire active citizenship is filling a critical void in our country," Jeb Bush said. "I will do my best to advance the Center's mission and continue the vision set forth by President Clinton's leadership these last three years."

Therapist declined confinement for Aurora shooter

DENVER. A psychiatrist who treated accused Colorado theater gunman James Holmes rejected a law enforcement offer to involuntarily confine him for 72 hours after he told her six weeks before the shooting that he fantasized about killing "a lot of people," the Denver Post reported yesterday.

Citing an unnamed source, the newspaper said that Holmes made the remark to his therapist, Lynne Fenton, on June 11. But when a University of Colorado police officer asked whether to detain Holmes on a psychiatric hold, Fenton said no.

A psychiatric hold is usually involuntary hospitalization for mental health evaluation. REUTERS

US household wealth reaches 2007's high

The net wealth of U.S. households rose in the third quarter to its highest since late 2007, providing a hopeful sign for future consumer spending.

Net financial wealth grew $1.72 trillion to $64.77 trillion, the Federal Reserve said on Thursday.

That left household wealth $1.2 trillion short of where it stood in the fourth quarter of 2007, just as the economy was sinking into a severe recession. Wealth peaked at $67.3 trillion in the third quarter of that year.

Rising home prices helped drive the increase in the latest quarter. The value of real estate owned by households rose about $300 billion, the Fed said. Stock holdings climbed by about $520 billion.

Increases in wealth could make consumers feel more comfortable spending their money. Many economists think consumers spend a few cents of

The data, part of the Fed's quarterly Flow of Funds report, also showed Americans continued their four-year effort to shed debt.

Households cut debt at a 2 percent annual rate in the third quarter, the steepest drop since the second quarter of 2011.

Household debt fell $65.5 billion to $12.87 trillion, reversing a small gain logged over the

Apple shares continue to fall

Apple's market capitalization fell below $500 billion on Thursday as shares of the world's most valuable listed company continued to slide after suffering its worst one-day decline in nearly four years.

Shares of Apple Inc. fell to as low as $518.63 on Thursday, declining nearly 10 percent for the week. But for the year, the stock is still up more than 30 percent. At its peak in September the stock was worth $705.07.

Earlier in the day, research firm IDC said Apple's rank in China's smartphone market, which is set to become the world's largest this year, fell to Chinese brands.

IDC's announcement comes a day after Apple's shares fell more than 6 percent on the Nasdaq, logging its biggest single-day loss in four years and losing $35 billion of its value, on concerns about rivals gaining ground in the mobile devices market. REUTERS

metro holiday

#1 DAILY NEWSPAPER IN CENTER CITY

WEEKEND, DECEMBER 7-9, 2012

WEEKEND

Do you hear what we hear?

► As usual, this year's holiday releases are a mixed bag ► Take a ride on a 'Christmas Unicorn'
► But stay away from the 'Grease' duo ► Metro helps you sort out the naughty from the nice

'A Different Kind of Christmas'

Various artists

Naughty: You're probably not familiar with many of the artists on these 23 tracks. Audio Stepchild? Renzo Charlez? Freshwadda Brooks? Have all of these great hip-hop artists been hiding on the North Pole until now?

Nice: This comp comes courtesy of Hoopla Worldwide/LRT/INGrooves Fontana, all imprints we had also never heard of before now. But some of the participants have affiliations with Parliament Funkadelic and Nappy Roots. The beats here mostly have a G-Funk feel with little samples of carols thrown in and the rhymes are super positive. Check out 1st Blood and Buffalo Stille's "Some Kentucky Bourbon on Christmas Eve" and Da Product and J Bill's "It Seems Like We Forgot" for some of the most festive holiday hip-hop since Run DMC's "Christmas in Hollis."

'Isn't This World Enough??'

Various Artists

Naughty: The problem with this post-record industry climate is that there aren't enough Scroogey label CEOs to say, "Yer holiday song stinks!" Therefore, this 14-song comp from Nettwerk has a few stinkers from Ash Koley and Jay Brannan. Bah humbug!

Nice: The title track, by the

► Admiral Fallow

Scottish six-piece Admiral Fallow might not be the most obvious holiday song (sample lyric: "You don't need to hang your hat on belief in bumper stickers") but there's something classic about it that makes it malleable, the way that "Put a Little Love In Your Heart" kind of became a holiday staple after its use in "Scrooged." Also worth noting: This comp kicks off with a rockin' Fun. tune!

Sufjan Stevens

Naughty: Is Sufjan Stevens trying to take up all our free time this season? Sure, this is a gorgeous collection of 58 holiday-ish tracks (we say "ish" because how is Prince's "Alphabet Street" a holiday song?)

Nice: There are a few songs on here that are the sonic equivalent of sugar plums dancing in your head. Draw the curtains, plug in your tree and zone out to the beautifully textured 10-minute plus opuses "Christmas Unicorn" and "The Child with the Star on His Head."

PAT HEALY
pat.healy@metro.us

Blake Shelton

Naughty: His role as a coach on "The Voice" has earned Blake Shelton a new base of fans who wouldn't ordinarily like his brand of country music. That said, if you don't ordinarily like his brand of country music, you won't like this album.

Nice: Shelton is such a likable personality that this is highly tolerable stuff. Plus, he handpicked some of the most likable side-kicks to guide his sleigh, like Reba, Kelly Clarkson, his wife Miranda Lambert and the king of palatable Christmas charisma, Michael Buble, who co-wrote one of the songs here. Basically, the cover pic of Shelton in front of the fireplace says it all: It's old-fashioned, steeped in tradition, comfortable and not exactly cool.

'Holidays Rule'

Various artists

Naughty: Another compilation that starts with a song by Fun. — the "We Are Young" trio have spread themselves too thin for the holidays. With their track, they take a "Sleigh Ride" down Broadway and make an ill-advised turn into '80s territory. Rufus Wainwright and Sharon Van Etten also deserve a lump of coal for their empty version of "Baby, It's Cold Outside."

Nice: This one delivers the most bang for your buck. The Shins run McCartney's "Wonderful Christmastime" through a Beach Boys filter and turn it into something great. McCartney himself is on here too. Other great performances include Calexico, Eleanor Friedberger and Andrew Bird.

'Sounds of the Holidays Vol. One'

The Polyphonic Spree

Naughty: The Spree are known for having 20 members, but leader Tim DeLaughter doesn't maximize the potential of all of his choral worker elves here.

Nice: "Silver Bells" is a dreamy 7-minute symphony that captures the exhausting wonder of the season through a child's eyes.

Looking good, Philly

► More than 1,800 photographers snapped away in the name of Philly Photo Day ► The verdict is in: We're quite the photogenic city

Quoted

"They're all upbeat — they're all very celebratory. Even if they're not of the most beautiful or idyllic scenes, there's a sense that they're all very hopeful about what they're looking at."

STOLFA

On Oct. 26, more than 1,800 photographers aimed their cameras at Philadelphia with a simple goal: documenting one moment of one slightly overcast fall day. And while the city didn't necessarily sit still and smile on Philly Photo Day — that's never quite been her style, even on special occasions — there did seem to be something a little different in the air.

"They're all upbeat — they're all very celebratory," says Sarah Stolf, executive director of the Philadelphia Photo Arts Center, of the photographs. "Even if they're not of the most beautiful or idyllic scenes, there's a sense that they're all very hopeful about what they're looking at."

Through Dec. 28, every single entry — from a quiet shot of the morning sun rolling through an empty gymnasium to portraits of late-night food cart feasts — is on display at the Photo Arts Center's gallery in Northern Liberties.

Later this month, more than 200 of the submissions will make their way on to buses, trains and billboards, prompting even more would-be photographers to take a fresh look at the city.

"If you're sitting on a bus or sitting on a subway underground, getting a glimpse of the outside world, of something green, that can change where your thoughts go," says Stolf.

Listen up to winter deal of Ben Revere

Listen my children and you shall hear of the winter trade of Ben Revere.

Too cliché? Yes, it is. But the Phillies made a bold statement at baseball's Winter Meetings Thursday by dealing for center fielder Ben Revere. The 24-year-old has been compared favorably to a young Juan Pierre.

While he has no power (no home runs in 1,064 plate appearances), Revere brings a solid bat (.294), speed (40 steals) and a stellar glove. More importantly, he isn't arbitration-eligible until 2014. Revere is expected to bat at the top of the order, either lead-off or in the two-hole.

"Ben is an outstanding, young, controllable center fielder who fits nicely with our club," said GM Ruben Amaro Jr.

The Phils had to lose some valuable assets to attain Revere.

The team parted ways with right-handed starter Vance Worley (18-13, 3.50 ERA in 46 career starts for the Phillies)

Third wheel

The Phils also have a deal on the table to acquire Texas 3B Michael Young.

Young owns a no-trade clause and the Phils were waiting on a final decision from the third baseman.

Young, 36, had the worst year of his career in 2012 hitting .277 with eight homers and 67 RBIs. He's batted better than .300 seven times in his career and won the 2005 AL batting title.

and 23-year-old pitching prospect Trevor May, who struck out 151 batters with a 4.87 ERA in 149.2 innings at Double-A Reading last season.

Rookie label off Foles

► Foles

GETTY IMAGES

Nick Foles can't chalk up his next turnover as a rookie mistake. Those are for rookies, and Foles is no longer a rookie, according to his coaches.

"All of this progressing and all of that is over now. We are no longer rookies, that's done," said offensive coordinator Marty Mornhinweg. "We expect to play at a high level consistently. Now, having said that, he sure does some things quite naturally."

Foles will make his third consecutive start Sunday in Tampa Bay after the Eagles lost Mike Vick to a concussion. Foles has been tabbed as the starter for the rest of this season and maybe 2013.

"His challenge is to play at a high level like he's shown that he can play and make it a really consistent deal over a period of plays and a period of plays over a ball game," Mornhinweg said.

Foles has a chance to rack up some numbers Sunday, since the Bucs rank last in the NFL in pass defense.

Account Executive Sales

marketing destinations

Miles, a well-established destination marketing company serving the travel and tourism industry has an immediate opening for a full-time digital advertising sales Account Executive to launch sales for a robust advertising mix on VisitPhilly.com, the official tourism website for Philadelphia. The new product mix will include display, listings, email, lead generation and content development.

We are seeking a highly motivated, articulate sales professional to represent the GPTMC, their marketing efforts and their audience in a professional manner. Ideal candidate knows Philadelphia and its tourism-related businesses, comes from an account management background and has minimum of 3 years related digital sales experience. Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution is required.

Responsibilities include:

- Hit and/or exceed revenue targets through consultative selling to tourism-related businesses.
- Secure weekly in-person client meetings and build strong relationships with prospects.
- Use designated account management software to maintain the records in your database.
- Meet or exceed weekly performance standards for sales activity.
- Cultivate understanding of existing customers and prospects' businesses. In addition to securing advertising agreements, be proactive in providing performance reporting and consulting with them on their current needs, target audiences and industry trends.
- Develop new business through referrals from existing customers, and utilize industry-related publications/networking with industry peers to develop prospective clients.
- Interact with the GPTMC and other departments to share leads, ideas and participate in Association events.
- Be the go-to person that communicates the customer's needs to the Miles' production, accounts payable and customer service departments.

We offer a competitive salary range commensurate with experience, excellent benefits, 401(k) and generous paid time off.

Apply at www.milepartnership.com/ careers only and answer the brief questionnaire concerning your sales experience. Full Time, Employee, annually.
